

From the Pastor's Desk

“Behold, I am doing a new thing; now it springs forth, do you not perceive it? I will make a way in the wilderness and rivers in the desert.”

Isaiah 43:19

Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

As I sit down to pen this letter, the leaves are starting to change colors. I was recently speaking with our new district superintendent, Rev. Dr. Lillian Smith, and she was commenting on how beautiful this particular area is during the season of Fall. Yet, in some ways, all seasons have their own beauty. Even though I am certainly not a fan of winter, I can still appreciate the beauty of freshly fallen snow. I know that some of you may not like the heat of summer, yet there is something beautiful about the light summer rain. And of course, with spring comes new life and new growth.

The concept of seasons does not just apply to weather and times of year. Seasons also apply to our lives as year. The season of having young children. The season of retirement. The season of trials. The season of new starts.

In our church, I believe we are in a particular season - the season of celebrating what God is doing. Even when we may not be able to fully name the season yet or articulate all of its blessings, we know that God is with us and doing something amazing.

How can we thank God for this season? And how can we testify to God's faithfulness in whatever we may face?
